The incident is peculiar, and is perhaps worth recording. It appears that a passenger-presumably some traveller by the English Mail steamer Ravenna-handed the pursor a sovereign instead of a 20-cent piece, and the mistake was not discovered until the takings were being counted over. It is not an uncommon thing at Home to pay a sovereign in mistake for a shilling, or a A Supply just received from the North. half-sovereign for a sixpence; but here gold is usually in the possession of travellers only. the process of assimilation, thereby siding idea that the doings of that crack-brained the plants to attain to their full size, man are devoid of all political significance. A correspondent in Shanghai who is in a good position to know what is going on wrote us the other day : Mason's affair, I think, will turn out to be the merest fisseo. He has been trying to make people believe that he is the centre of a huge conspiracy, but in sober truth I think the whole thing originated in his disordered imagination. He had somehow persuaded himself that an outbreak was imminent and he thought that by a timely appearance with half a dozon foreigners and a few arms he could ride on the whirlwind and direct the 3 р.ш., John Bare, Engineer, s.s. Nan- storm. The only result is that he finds himself a forlorn prisoner in Her Majesty's jail and the laughing-stock of foreigners and Chinese alike. Our correspondent goes on to say : The auti-forcign-feeling that has been evoked is a very different thing and only strong measures will do for BEAUCHAMP, son of the late J. S. Beauthat. We have had no such outbreak champ, of Hurst Cottage, Twyford, Berks, since the war of 1860, and if it is not put down new worse will follow. It is lamentable to think that the Chinese still believe The publication of this issue commenced | that we scoop out children's eyes and commit abominations that would disgrace beasts, but we cannot allow our throats to be cut while waiting for them to learn better. I do not think, however, that we are on the eve of a rebellion. There is, no doubt, a great deal of revolutionary stuff floating about. It has been stirred into activity by the prospect of foreign trouble, but so far as I can make out there is no head, no organisation and no common understanding and therefore no probability of a general rising.
